He Thinks Grover Could Be Elected for a Third Term if Foolish Prejudice Can Be Overcome. New York, Sept. 13.—The World will print to-morrow an interview with Richard Cro-ker, in which he discussed American poli-tics and presidential prospects, including the third term question, very freely. Mr. Croker sails to-day by the Columbia from Southampton for New York. The inter-view follows: London, Sept. 12 .- "I have almost forgotten New York polities," said Hichard Cro-ker to a reporter. "It is a purely domes-tic matter which has induced me to return to New York. I may be back in time for the Manchester November handicap and I shall certainly eat my Christmas I shall candon!"

What do you think about a third term
Mr. Cleveland?" Mr. Croker was asked.
Teveland and a third term, eh? I am ad I cannot give you any direct answer

"In regard to the prejudice that exists very many people's minds as to the third orm, that is a very tough corner, indeed, a turn. But precedent can be made, and ien, again, precedent can be broken and nother precedent made."

"Mr. Cleveland has not taken me sufficiently into his confidence to have consided to ma, his intentions "exarding his sceptance or the reverse, but it is difficult to conceive any man refusing the lasting oner of being the first man to serve three erms as president of the United States, ir. Cleveland is no doubt as human as ne rest of us, but as I said before, a single corner has to be turned. Prejudice as to be overcome, and will it be?

"But I must say right here that I think he present administration has been an a of great prosperity to the country and nat under Mr. Cleveland I have no reason to believe that that prosperity would not online and increase."

"And what do you think of Mr. Whit-to believe that that prosperity would not continue and increase."

"And what do you think of Mr. Whitney's chances?" the reporter asked.

"I think if Mr. Whitney were nominated he would also be a very strong candidate. He is an elegant gentleman, a man of good executive power and everything in his past redounds to his credit. Whether Tammany would support him or not I cannot say. I have been too long absent and can only suggest probabilities."

"Well, I can hardly give you a reply in regard to that. I don't favor any of them, and I don't want to, but if anyone does get in, it may just as well be Allison as any-body else."

In spite of the delays due to the fire itself and subsequent mushaps consequent upon it, which includes the stopping of all the typesetting machines by the cutting off of gas, the paper went to presson time.

The World is receiving from newspapers throughout the condity expression of regret at its loss. The World expresses its gratifude for the cordial interest manifested, assuring its friends that no serious damage has been done, owing to the irreprof nature of the building.

It was stated in the diffice of the World to-day that between 75 and 100 tons of paper had been damaged by last night's fire, and that the total loss was estimated at $600. The fire started in the paper room from an electric wire.

There was an adverse report made on the resolution favoring the establishment of a national university of patriotism, and the report was adopted.

The camp further declared itself against long parades and marches at future encampments. This was brought about on account of the large number of veterans who are becoming too old and feeble to endure them. It was decided that a special celebration should be held on the next anniversary of the establishing of the first Grand Army post.

The report from the committee on the officers who have served during the last year commended them all for the dilizent and faithful performance of their duties. A resolution was adopted appointing a committee of five to arrange for the crecition of a monument at Washington to commemorate the loyal women who served as purses or in other ways aided the soldiers of the Union during the rebellion.

Colonel Watterson and Citizens of Louisville:—Our annual pilgrimage has brought us to your beautiful city to hold our national encampment. You have received us as though we were the princes of the earth.
Never did I realize the poverty of speech as I realize it now, in attempting to convey to you what I know to be the heartfelt thanks of these veterans and myself for your royal reception and unstinted hospitality. You possess the tare faculty, peculiar to the Southern people, of making the stranger within your gates feel that he is at home, and that he is in the house of his friends. Foremost among those to welcome the veterans of the blue to the commonwealth of Kentucky, the state that gave to the nation that greatest of Americans, Abraham Lincoln, have been the veterans who were the gray.

It may have occurred to some of you that we are here on hishness. If so, you are laboring under a delusion. We are here bent on pleasure, determined, in a reasonable, orderly and semi-soberly way, to have a good time. True to the soliderly instinct we expected to do some foraging, but to send out foraging barties we find would be an unnecessary waste of energy, for you have not only anticipated, but have bountfully supplied every want of the inner man. I am convinced that Kentucky raises more and tenderer chickens than any other state in the Union, and that no color line is drawn at the legs of the fow!.
